

Things I've written that have amused other people, Episode 3

 devblogs.microsoft.com/oldnewthing/20070306-00

March 6, 2007

Raymond Chen

In an internal discussion of the women blogger conference known as BlogHer, somebody asked, “Why isn’t there a BlogHim?” I replied, | Isn’t that the plural of the word “blog” in Hebrew?

This got quite an amused response from the Hebrew-speaking (or at least vaguely Hebrew-aware) members of the mailing list.

Not bad for having studied Hebrew for about ten seconds. (Apparently a better spelling of the plural would be “blogim” or “bloggim”. But it wouldn’t have been as funny.)

Raymond Chen

Follow

