

It's not enough to say that something is bad; you have to say what would be better

---

 devblogs.microsoft.com/oldnewthing/20070709-00

July 9, 2007

Raymond Chen

I see a lot of feedback that says (roughly), “X is bad,” and leaves it at that. That’s not useful feedback. It’s not enough to say that something is bad. you have to say what would be better.

(Another example. Another.)

Raymond Chen

Follow

