

Nobody actually talks the way they do in training videos, do they?

---

 devblogs.microsoft.com/oldnewthing/20080221-00

February 21, 2008

Raymond Chen

I'm watching a training video and it starts off with patently unrealistic dialog.

I'm struggling with X. Maybe you can help me out with a different perspective, or some information that I'm not aware of.

An opening line like that pretty much demands bad acting. You can tell that this dialogue was designed by a committee. Nobody actually talks like this.

Well, that's perhaps too much of a blanket statement. Maybe people talk like this at the training company that produced the video.

Raymond Chen

Follow

