

Welcome to the 2008 holiday shopping season

 devblogs.microsoft.com/oldnewthing/20081127-01

November 27, 2008

Raymond Chen

Yes, maybe you're one of those crazy people who camps out in front of a store so you can be the first person in line to get this year's hot toy, or so you can snag one of the doorbuster deals. But be judicious in your rush, because the police are out there too, and they're shopping for something else.

Raymond Chen

Follow

