

A burglar tells you the best place to hide your money

 devblogs.microsoft.com/oldnewthing/20090803-01

August 3, 2009

Raymond Chen

Jeffrey Strain chats with a former burglar and learns the best place to hide money. (“The bank,” responds the former burglar. Oh, the best place to hide money in the house...)

A month later, the follow-up article discussed the worst places to hide money (that sound like good ideas but aren’t).

Raymond Chen

Follow

