

I could just use a picture of a regular-sized shopping cart from farther away

 devblogs.microsoft.com/oldnewthing/20100114-01

January 14, 2010

Raymond Chen

Internet retailer woot! went to CES 2010 and covered it on their blog. (CES category.) But they don't cover what the media elite cover, the big announcements, the hot products. Nope, they cover the weird stuff.

They have uncrating photos of CES itself, they infiltrate the The Consumer Breakfast Buffet Show, and they take super secret spy pictures of a miniature shopping cart.

Raymond Chen

Follow

