

Technically not lying, but not exactly admitting fault either devblogs.microsoft.com/oldnewthing/20130419-01

April 19, 2013

Raymond Chen

I observed a spill suspiciously close to a three-year-old's play table. I asked, "How did the floor get wet?"

She replied, "Water."

It's not lying, but it's definitely not telling the whole story. She'll probably grow up to become a lawyer.

Raymond Chen

Follow

