

In the Seattle area, people treat you nicer once they learn your last name is Gates

 devblogs.microsoft.com/oldnewthing/20150414-00

April 14, 2015

Raymond Chen

One of the team members during the days of Windows 95 happens to have the last name Gates, no relation.

She says that it's surprising how nice salespeople are to you once they learn what your last name is.

Go figure.

Raymond Chen

Follow

