APT32: New Cyber Espionage Group

brighttalk.com/webcast/10703/261205

Trellix

Presented by

Nick Carr, Sr. Manager Incident Response, Mandiant, a FireEye Company

About this talk

Learn more about APT32 (OceanLotus Group), a Southeast Asian cyber espionage group threatening multi-national companies operating in Vietnam. After long-term monitoring and response of their activities, FireEye has given this threat actor the newest APT designation. Join Nick Carr, Sr. Manager of Incident Response, as he shares how Mandiant, iSIGHT Intelligence and FireEye as a Service teams reveal: • Who is part of APT32, where they are based, whom they target and how they operate • Advice on how to defend against, hunt for and respond to APT32 • How your organization can improve your ability to detect, prevent and remediate APT32 attacks

Related topics:

APT

APT32

More from this channel

Upcoming talks (0)
On-demand talks (392)
Subscribers (50719)
Trellix is a global company redefining the future of cybersecurity. The company's open and native extended detection and response (XDR) platform helps organizations confronted by today's most advanced threats gain confidence in the protection and resilience of their operations. Trellix's security experts, along with an extensive partner ecosystem, accelerate technology innovation through data science and automation to empower over 40,000 business and government customers. More at www.trellix.com.